MORTALIS: REALMS

Core Rules — Draft v1.10 (Combined Edition: Core Rules + All 15 Realm Card Sets)

1. Overview & Win Condition

Players build 40-card decks with total creative freedom — any card can go in any deck, with no rigid pre-built synergy packages required. Strategy comes from smart deckbuilding, resource management, and tactical combat decisions, not from being locked into a narrow set of “correct” card combinations.

Win condition: Reduce your opponent’s Mortality to 0.

2. Core Resources

Pulse

The universal resource used to pay for all cards. Pulse is not colored or Realm-locked — every card simply costs a number of Pulse, regardless of archetype.

- At the start of each of your turns, gain a flat 5 Pulse (this amount does not increase as the game goes on — always 5)
- Unused Pulse carries over indefinitely between turns as a running tally — there is no “use it or lose it,” and no hard cap
- Card-based Pulse ramp effects (e.g., Kessa Windrend’s Auxiliary Mode) still function and stack on top of the flat 5/turn

Mortality

Represents a player’s life total.

- Starting Mortality: 250
 - When a player’s Mortality reaches 0, they lose
 - If a player must draw from an empty deck, they take escalating fatigue damage instead of losing instantly (damage increases each subsequent fatigue draw)

3. Realms & Lanes

Before the match begins, each player selects up to 4 Realms. These are fixed for the entire game — they are not drawn from your deck.

- You may run duplicates of the same Realm (e.g., 4x the same Realm for a mono-archetype deck)
- Each Realm you choose creates 1 Lane on your board
- Realms determine archetype access: to play a card from a given archetype, you must control a matching Realm in play. Realms do not affect a card’s Pulse cost.

- Running fewer than 4 Realms, or duplicating one Realm type, carries no explicit game penalty — any trade-off (fewer total Heroes, less archetype diversity) is a natural consequence of the choice, not a rule.

4. Deckbuilding

- Deck size: 40 cards
 - Copy limit: 2-3 copies max of any individual card
 - Any card can be included in any deck — there is no forced synergy requirement, only the Realm-access gate described above

5. Turn Structure

Each turn follows a simple sequence:

Draw → Play → Attack → End

- Draw 1 card per turn
- Play cards (Heroes, Relics, Hexes, Rites, Pacts, Incantations) using available Pulse
- Declare attacks (optional, per Hero)
- End turn

Game start: - Starting hand size: 7 cards - Maximum hand size: 8 — if you would draw a card while already holding 8, the drawn card is discarded instead (it is not added to your hand) - The player going first skips their first draw, cannot attack on their first turn, and gains only 3 Pulse on their first turn instead of the normal 5 (fairness corrections)

6. Lanes & Board Structure

- Each Realm = 1 Lane, up to 4 Lanes total
- Each Lane holds a maximum of 1 Hero
- Each Lane also has 2 Auxiliary slots (see Section 8 — Heroes, Auxiliary Mode)
- Lane adjacency: Lanes are arranged in a fixed left-to-right order, set when you choose your Realms before the match. A “neighboring” Lane (referenced by some card effects) means a Lane physically adjacent to it — a middle Lane has 2 neighbors, an end Lane has 1 (or 0 if you’re only running a single Lane).

Staggered Lane Unlocks

Lanes do not all open at once. They unlock from the center outward on a fixed schedule tied to each player’s own turn count, so the early game is a build-up phase rather than a race to flood the board. Number the four Lane positions 1–4 left to right; Lanes 2 and 3 are the two middle Lanes and Lanes 1 and 4 are the outer Lanes.

- The two middle Lanes (positions 2 and 3): open from the start of the game (each player's turn 1)
- Lane position 1 (one outer Lane): unlocks at the start of each player's 3rd turn
- Lane position 4 (the other outer Lane): unlocks at the start of each player's 5th turn

A Hero, Relic, or Auxiliary card may only be played into, and only occupies, an unlocked Lane. A locked Lane cannot be attacked into or targeted, and it cannot hold cards. The schedule is per-player and symmetric, and the Lane positions are fixed and mirrored between the two players — so when a new Lane opens, both players' Lanes in that position open on their respective turns, sitting directly across from each other. (Position 1 opens on turn 3 for both players; position 4 opens on turn 5 for both.)

Because Lanes open from the center, the two starting Lanes are neighbors of each other, and each outer Lane that opens later becomes the neighbor of the middle Lane beside it. This means adjacency-based effects (formations, Joint Strikes, "neighboring lane" bonuses) come online immediately for your opening pair and extend outward as the board grows. If you run fewer than 4 Realms, you simply have fewer Lanes: with 2 Lanes you use the two middle positions from turn 1; with 3, your third (outer) Lane opens on turn 3.

- Total Heroes in play at once = number of unlocked Lanes filled (max 4, and fewer in the early turns)

7. Combat

Basic Combat

When Heroes fight (same-lane by default):

1. Compare the total Attack of the attacking side vs. the defending side
2. The side with lower total Attack takes damage equal to the difference, subtracted from Health
3. The side with higher total Attack takes no damage
4. If Attack values are equal, no damage is dealt to either side

Redirects

If a Hero attacks but the opponent's matching lane is empty: - The Hero may redirect to attack a Hero in a different occupied lane - If the opponent's entire board is empty, the attack goes directly to their Mortality

Onslaught (Gang-Ups)

Multiple Heroes can redirect onto the same single defending Hero — this is called an Onslaught. An Onslaught resolves like basic combat, except the attackers' Attack values are summed and treated as one collective Attack value, which is then compared against the defending Hero's Attack:

- Sum the Attack of all attacking Heroes into one collective Attack value
- If the attackers' combined Attack is higher than the defender's Attack, the defender loses Health equal to the difference (combined attacker Attack – defender Attack), and all attackers take no damage
- If the defender's Attack is higher than the attackers' combined Attack, the defender takes no damage and each individual attacking Hero loses Health equal to the full difference (defender Attack – combined attacker Attack) — every attacker takes the same full amount, not a divided share, so a failed Onslaught can wipe out several attackers at once
- If the two values are equal, no damage is dealt to either side

Overkill Damage

Whenever a Hero dies from combat damage — whether from basic combat, a successful Onslaught, or the difference damage from a failed Onslaught — any damage dealt in excess of that Hero's Health spills over to its controller's Mortality, capped at a maximum of 30 Mortality per Hero killed (excess beyond 30 is wasted). This applies symmetrically: it can happen to a defender killed by an attack, or to an attacking Hero killed by a failed Onslaught. (For a failed Onslaught, each attacking Hero is evaluated separately: any that die may each contribute up to 30 Overkill Damage to their controller's Mortality.) The cap keeps a single oversized swing from erasing a huge share of Mortality at once, while preserving the pressure that finishing a Hero cleanly should apply.

8. Card Types

Effect duration (default rule): Unless a card explicitly says otherwise, an effect that modifies stats or the board lasts only while that card remains in play. Effects worded “at the start of turn,” “each turn,” or similar are recurring — they happen every applicable turn, not just once. Card text should always specify duration/frequency explicitly (e.g., “while in play,” “at the start of each of your turns,” “once, when this enters play”) to avoid ambiguity.

No unconditional direct damage to Mortality: Cards may not deal damage straight to a player's Mortality as a standalone, guaranteed effect (no plain “burn” spells). The only paths to direct Mortality damage are the existing combat rules — a Hero attacking into a lane with no enemy Hero, an opponent's fully empty board, or Overkill Damage (see Section 7). This keeps the game anchored in board state and lane combat rather than allowing a deck to bypass Heroes entirely.

Multiples of 10: All Attack, Health, and damage numbers on every card (not just Hero base stats) must be multiples of 10.

Stat Reduction vs. Damage: Some cards (mostly Balemaw) reduce a Hero's Attack or Health rather than dealing damage. A stat reduction is not damage: it cannot be prevented by damage-prevention effects, and Health lost to a reduction cannot be healed back (the Hero's maximum is lowered). A Hero whose Health is reduced to 0 by a stat reduction is destroyed, but since no damage was dealt, no Overkill Damage occurs. Attack cannot be reduced below 0.

Heroes

The main monster cards. Every Hero card can be played in one of two modes — but a given card (by name) can only be in play once total, in either mode, not both at the same time.

Hero Mode: - One per Lane, up to 4 Heroes in play at once - Cost: Full Pulse cost listed on the card, gated by matching Realm access - Stats: Attack and Health, generated from a stat budget of cost × 30, split in multiples of 10 (e.g., a 5-cost Hero has 150 points to split) - Ability text: Full custom text, unique per Hero — no generic vanilla stat-sticks, no keyword jargon - Rarity: Common → Uncommon → Rare → Ultra-Rare → Eternal (rarity governs ability complexity/power ceiling, not raw stats) - No flavor text — cards are mechanics-only - Equipping: Each Hero can hold Relics in 2 slots (see below)

Auxiliary Mode: - Instead of playing a Hero card into its Lane, you may play it into one of that Lane's 2 Auxiliary slots - Cost: A fixed discount of -2 Pulse from the card's normal Hero cost (minimum 1 Pulse) - Grants a separate, unique support effect written on the card — does not fight, does not have Attack/Health while in this mode - Higher-power Auxiliary effects may take up both slots in the Lane instead of just 1 - This means a duplicate copy of a Hero you've already played isn't a dead draw — it becomes a support piece instead

Relics

Equipment cards that attach to a Hero.

- Slots: 2 per Hero; more powerful Relics can occupy both slots
- Realm-locked: A Relic may only be attached to a Hero of its own Realm
- Effects: Stat boosts and/or granted abilities/keywords
- If the equipped Hero dies, its Relics are permanently destroyed

Hexes

Reactive, trap-style cards.

- Played face-down for free — placing one only requires an open slot from the shared pool (see below), no Pulse cost at that moment
- Triggers automatically when their condition is met
- The listed Pulse cost is paid at the moment the trigger condition occurs — drawn from whatever Pulse you currently have banked, even during your opponent's turn. This is the only card type that can be paid for and resolved during the opponent's turn.
- If you cannot or choose not to pay the cost when it triggers, the Hex fizzles with no effect and is destroyed

- Scope varies by card: some are narrow-but-powerful (affecting a single Realm/lane), others are wide-but-weaker (affecting the whole board)

Rites

Delayed setup/payoff cards.

- Effects vary by card: some resolve automatically after a set number of turns, some can be cashed in early for a smaller effect, and some build up based on an in-game trigger rather than a fixed timer

Pacts

Risk/reward cards with a cost or downside.

- Cost type varies by card: life (Mortality), card advantage, board state (sacrifice), etc.

Incantations

Direct-effect spells: damage, buffs/debuffs, removal, draw, disruption, or larger swing effects.

- No full board wipes — effects must be specific/targeted (a lane, a condition, a card), never an indiscriminate sweep of the entire board

Shared Slot Pool (Hexes / Rites / Pacts / Incantations)

These four card types all draw from the same shared resource:

- 4 total slots, fixed regardless of how many Realms you're running
- A slot is occupied while a Hex/Rite/Pact is active/pending, or briefly while an Incantation is cast
- Slots free up once the card resolves or triggers, allowing a new one to be played
- Since Incantations resolve immediately, you must have an open slot available to cast one — if all 4 slots are tied up with lingering Hexes/Rites/Pacts, you cannot cast a new Incantation until one frees up

9. Open Questions / Not Yet Decided

- Full ability-complexity guidelines per rarity tier
 - Additional Realms beyond the current fifteen (Fangrend, Luminar, Runespire, Balemaw, Gildharbor, Ankhara, Karakhorda, Deepforge, Aurelium, Oathenhall, Zolthec, Almsgard, Thornveil, Noctavein, Brightmantle)

Appendix A: Fangrend Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: Storm-wolf warriors who trade safety for raw power. Mechanically: low Health / high Attack Heroes, self-damage-for-payoff effects, and direct aggression through combat rather than unconditional burn.

Heroes

(Each Hero card lists both its Hero Mode and Auxiliary Mode)

Vorka, Stormfang Reaver Hero Mode — Cost: 4 Pulse | Attack/Health: 70/50 | Rarity: Common While Vorka is in play, her Attack is continuously increased by 1 for each point of Health she is currently missing. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 2 Pulse | 1 slot While in this slot, the Hero in this lane continuously has +30 Attack. At the start of each of your turns, that Hero takes 20 damage.

Skarn, the Unbound Hero Mode — Cost: 6 Pulse | Attack/Health: 140/40 | Rarity: Rare While Skarn is in play, whenever he deals damage directly to an opponent's Mortality, draw 1 card. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 4 Pulse | 2 slots While in this slot, the Hero in this lane deals its full Attack as damage to any enemy Hero it fights in combat, even if that enemy Hero's Attack is higher (overriding the normal "higher Attack takes no damage" rule for this lane only).

Riko, the Ashwolf Pup Hero Mode — Cost: 2 Pulse | Attack/Health: 40/20 | Rarity: Common While Riko is in play, the first time each turn she deals combat damage to an enemy Hero, she gains +20 Attack until the end of your next turn. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 1 Pulse | 1 slot When this card enters play, deal 20 damage to the Hero in this lane.

Gunnhild Stormscar Hero Mode — Cost: 5 Pulse | Attack/Health: 90/60 | Rarity: Uncommon When Gunnhild destroys an enemy Hero in combat, she deals 20 damage to the enemy Hero in a lane neighboring the one she attacked, if any. (Her fury carries through the line.) Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 3 Pulse | 1 slot While in this slot, the first time each turn the Hero in this lane destroys an enemy Hero in combat, deal 20 damage to your opponent's Mortality.

Threnn, Widow of the Gale Hero Mode — Cost: 8 Pulse | Attack/Health: 180/60 | Rarity: Ultra-Rare While Threnn is in play, whenever an enemy Hero dies from combat damage dealt by one of your Heroes, Threnn permanently gains +20 Attack. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 6 Pulse | 2 slots While this card is in play, whenever any enemy Hero dies, deal 30 damage to an enemy Hero of your choice.

Kessa Windrend Hero Mode — Cost: 3 Pulse | Attack/Health: 60/30 | Rarity: Common Whenever you gain Pulse from a card effect, Kessa gains +20 Attack until the end of your next turn. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 1 Pulse | 1 slot At the start of each of your turns, if the Hero in this lane attacked during your previous turn, gain 1 Pulse.

Snarl, the Wound-Fed Hero Mode — Cost: 2 Pulse | Attack/Health: 40/20 | Rarity: Common Whenever Snarl takes damage, he gains +10 Attack until the end of your next turn. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 1 Pulse | 1 slot While in this slot, the Hero in this lane heals 10 Health at the start of each of your turns.

Hilde Scartongue Hero Mode — Cost: 4 Pulse | Attack/Health: 80/40 | Rarity: Uncommon Whenever Hilde takes damage, she gains Attack equal to the damage taken until the end of your next turn. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 2 Pulse | 1 slot While in this slot, at the end of each of your turns, the Hero in this lane takes 10 damage.

Ragna, the Undying Fang Hero Mode — Cost: 6 Pulse | Attack/Health: 130/50 | Rarity: Rare Whenever Ragna takes damage, she permanently gains Attack equal to the damage taken (maximum +30 Attack per turn from this effect). The first time Ragna would die from damage each game, instead reduce her Health to 10 and she survives — when this happens, she only gains Attack equal to the amount of damage that was needed to reduce her Health to 0, not the full amount dealt (any excess/overkill damage grants no bonus Attack). Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 4 Pulse | 1 slot While in this slot, once per turn you may pay 2 Pulse to give the Hero in this lane +20 Attack until the end of the current turn.

Vrist, Harbinger of Wounds Hero Mode — Cost: 8 Pulse | Attack/Health: 160/80 | Rarity: Ultra-Rare Whenever Vrist takes damage, he permanently gains Attack equal to the damage taken (maximum +30 Attack per turn from this effect). While Vrist is in play, whenever another Fangrend Hero you control takes damage, that Hero also permanently gains Attack equal to half the damage taken, rounded down to the nearest 10 (maximum +20 Attack per turn per Hero from this effect). Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 6 Pulse | 2 slots While in this slot, whenever any Hero you control dies, the Hero in this lane permanently gains 20 Attack. At the end of each of your turns, the Hero in this lane takes 10 damage.

Skoldir, the Last Howl Hero Mode — Cost: 10 Pulse | Attack/Health: 220/80 | Rarity: Eternal Whenever Skoldir takes damage, he permanently gains Attack equal to half the damage taken, rounded down to the nearest 10 (maximum +30 Attack per turn from this effect). When Skoldir dies, deal damage equal to half his current Attack (rounded down to the nearest 10, maximum 60) to up to 2 enemy Heroes of your choice. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 8 Pulse | 2 slots While in this slot, once per turn, you may pay 2 Pulse: the Hero in this lane may attack a second time this turn.

Relics

Fangrend Warpaint — 1 slot | Cost: 1 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +20 Attack.

Cracked Storm-Horn — 1 slot | Cost: 2 Pulse While equipped, whenever this Hero wins a fight (deals damage while taking none), also deal 20 damage to the Hero in the opposing lane, if one is present.

Wolfskin Cloak — 1 slot | Cost: 3 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +50 Health.

The Reaver's Tusk — 2 slots | Cost: 5 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +80 Attack. At the start of each of your turns, this Hero takes 20 damage.

Chain of the Bound Storm — 2 slots | Cost: 4 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +30 Attack and +30 Health. Whenever the equipped Hero dies, deal 50 damage to whichever Hero killed it. This triggers once, at the moment of death.

Hexes

(Played face-down, trigger automatically when their condition is met)

Snapping Ambush — Cost: 2 Pulse When an enemy Hero attacks a Hero in this lane, deal 30 damage to the attacking Hero before combat damage is calculated. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Frostbitten Snare — Cost: 2 Pulse When an enemy Hero attacks a Hero in this lane, reduce that enemy Hero's Attack by 30 for that combat only. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Vengeful Howl — Cost: 3 Pulse When a Hero in this lane dies, deal 50 damage to whichever Hero killed it. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Warded Threshold — Cost: 4 Pulse The first time each turn an enemy Hero attacks this lane, that attack is blocked — no combat occurs and no damage is dealt to either side. If this lane's Hero is instead targeted by an Onslaught (multiple attacking Heroes), this effect removes one attacking Hero of your choice from the Onslaught — that Hero's Attack no longer counts toward the total, and it does not participate in the resulting combat — while the remaining attackers' Onslaught proceeds as normal. This card is not destroyed after triggering and may trigger again on future turns.

Feast of Wounds — Cost: 2 Pulse When an enemy Hero attacks a Hero in this lane, deal 20 damage to the Hero in this lane (yours) before combat damage is calculated. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Rites

(Delayed setup/payoff)

The Long Hunt — Cost: 3 Pulse Starting the turn after this Rite is played, count 3 of your turns. At the end of the 3rd counted turn, deal 90 damage to a Hero of your choice, then destroy this Rite. At any point before then, you may instead end this Rite early to deal 30 damage to a Hero of your choice immediately.

The Slow Thaw — Cost: 2 Pulse Starting the turn after this Rite is played, count 2 of your turns. At the end of the 2nd counted turn, your Hero in this lane permanently gains +30 Attack and +30 Health, then destroy this Rite. At any point before then, you may instead end this Rite early, granting +20 Attack and +20 Health immediately instead.

Oath of the Unyielding Pack — Cost: 4 Pulse This Rite gains 1 counter at the start of each of your turns. When it reaches 3 counters, destroy this Rite and give each Fangrend Hero you control +20 Attack permanently.

Reckoning of the Storm — Cost: 5 Pulse Starting the turn after this Rite is played, count 4 of your turns. At the end of the 4th counted turn, deal 120 damage to a Hero of your choice, then destroy this Rite. At any point before then, you may instead end this Rite early to deal 50 damage to a Hero of your choice immediately.

Pacts

(Risk/reward, cost varies by card)

Blood for the Storm — Cost: 2 Pulse When this Pact resolves, deal 50 damage to your own Hero in this lane. If that Hero survives, it permanently gains +40 Attack.

Debt of Fang and Bone — Cost: 2 Pulse When this Pact resolves, discard 2 cards from your hand, then draw 3 cards.

Sacrifice to the Storm — Cost: 1 Pulse When this Pact resolves, destroy a Hero you control in any lane. Gain Pulse equal to that Hero's cost, immediately and only once.

Reckless Bargain — Cost: 3 Pulse When this Pact resolves, deal 30 damage to an enemy Hero of your choice, then deal 30 damage to your own Hero in this lane.

Incantations

(Direct spells, no full board wipes, no unconditional Mortality burn)

Fury Unleashed — Cost: 4 Pulse When this Incantation resolves, deal damage to an enemy Hero equal to the current Attack of your Hero in the same lane.

Village Raid — Cost: 5 Pulse When this Incantation resolves, discard any number of cards from your hand. Choose one Fangrend Hero you control — it gains +20 Attack until the end of the current turn for each card discarded this way.

Howling Retribution — Cost: 5 Pulse When this Incantation resolves, choose up to 2 Heroes (any Heroes in play, yours or your opponent's). Deal 30 damage to each chosen Hero.

Appendix B: Luminar Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: A radiant order of Paladins built around balance, teamwork, and utility. Luminar Heroes run close to even Attack/Health splits (no glass cannons), and their effects lean into supporting other Realms on your board, generating Pulse, drawing cards, and disrupting Hexes/Rites/Pacts — the utility/glue Realm of the game. Several cards reference neighboring lanes (see Section 6 — Lane adjacency).

Heroes

(Each Hero card lists both its Hero Mode and Auxiliary Mode)

Squire Elenya Hero Mode — Cost: 2 Pulse | Attack/Health: 30/30 | Rarity: Common When Elenya enters play, draw a card if you control a Hero from a Realm other than Luminar. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 1 Pulse | 1 slot At the start of each of your turns, if you control a Hero from another Realm, gain 1 Pulse.

Brother Tomas Hero Mode — Cost: 2 Pulse | Attack/Health: 20/40 | Rarity: Common While this card is in play, at the start of your turn, you may discard 1 card in your hand to give a Hero you control +20 Attack until end of turn. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 1 Pulse | 1 slot While in this slot, the Hero in this lane has +20 Health.

Dame Ysolde Hero Mode — Cost: 3 Pulse | Attack/Health: 40/50 | Rarity: Common While Ysolde is in play, whenever you play a Hero from a Realm other than Luminar, that Hero gains +10 Health permanently. Thalia Oathkeeper Hero Mode — Cost: 6 Pulse | Attack/Health: 90/90 | Rarity: Rare Whenever you play a Hero from a Realm other than Luminar, gain 1 Pulse. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 4 Pulse | 2 slots Once per turn, when you play a Hero from a Realm other than Luminar, gain 1 Pulse.

At the start of each of your turns, gain 2 Pulse. Auxiliary Mode — Cost: 8 Pulse | 2 slots While this card is in play, all Heroes you control continuously have +10 Attack and +10 Health. Whenever any battle occurs anywhere on the board, gain 1 Pulse. When this card enters play, draw 2 cards.

Relics

Blessed Sigil — 1 slot | Cost: 1 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +20 Health.

Lantern of Vigil — 1 slot | Cost: 2 Pulse While equipped, Heroes in neighboring lanes continuously have +10 Attack and +10 Health.

Aegis Plate — 1 slot | Cost: 3 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +20 Attack and +20 Health.

Halo of the Everwatch — 2 slots | Cost: 4 Pulse While equipped, this Hero continuously has +40 Attack and +40 Health. Once per turn, you may destroy a Hex targeting this lane.

Hexes

(Played face-down, cost paid at the moment they trigger, may be paid for during either player's turn)

Guardian's Ward — Cost: 1 Pulse The first time each turn a Hero in a neighboring lane would take combat damage, prevent 20 of that damage. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Radiant Rebuke — Cost: 2 Pulse When an enemy Hero attacks a Hero in this lane, heal the defending Hero (the Hero in this lane being attacked) for 20 Health before combat damage is calculated. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Purging Light — Cost: 3 Pulse When an enemy Auxiliary or Relic card is played in an enemy lane, destroy it. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Vow of Retribution — Cost: 3 Pulse When a Hero in this lane dies, deal 40 damage to whichever Hero killed it, then draw a card. After this effect triggers once, destroy this card.

Rites

(Delayed setup/payoff)

Vigil of Dawn — Cost: 2 Pulse Starting the turn after this Rite is played, count 2 of your turns. At the end of the 2nd counted turn, your Hero in this lane permanently gains +20 Attack and +20 Health, then destroy this Rite. At any point before then, you may instead end this Rite early, granting +10 Attack and +10 Health immediately instead.

Choir of Ascension — Cost: 3 Pulse Starting the turn after this Rite is played, count 3 of your turns. At the end of the 3rd counted turn, draw 2 cards, then destroy this Rite. At any point before then, you may instead end this Rite early to draw 1 card immediately.

Appendix C: Runespire Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: Arcane magisters of a fractured spell-tower. Runespire Heroes lean toward Attack over Health (a real skew, but softer than Fangrend's glass cannons — think 60/40 splits rather than 75/25). Their engine is conditional Pulse generation: they profit when things die, when attacks are declared, when enemy cards are destroyed, when Mortality is lost. Interspersed throughout are effects that destroy enemy support cards (Relics, Auxiliary cards, Hexes, Rites, and Pacts).

Appendix D: Balemaw Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: Bargain-binding demons of the Red Gate. Balemaw Heroes carry even, dependable stat lines — no glass cannons, no walls — because their power lives in sabotage. Their effects weaken enemy stats (some conditionally, triggered by what the opponent does; some as direct, immediate debuffs) and deny functions outright: blocking Relic play in a lane, forbidding redirects, silencing abilities, and taxing the opponent's Pulse. See the Stat Reduction vs. Damage clarification at the top of this document.

Appendix F: Ankbara Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: Tomb-kings and priest-generals of a sun-scorched river empire. Ankbara Heroes carry balanced, even stat lines, and their signature mechanic is Attack stealing: draining Attack from enemy Heroes and claiming it for their own, most often during battle. Their strongest cards drain every enemy Hero at once. A secondary theme punishes enemy deployment — enemy Heroes entering play weakened (unlike Balemaw's versions, Ankbara's typically transfer what is taken) — rounded out with straightforward stat boosts, augmentation, and enemy support-card destruction.

Stealing rule: When a card "steals" Attack, two things happen simultaneously: the victim's Attack is reduced (this follows the Stat Reduction vs. Damage rules in Section 8) and the thief gains that much Attack as a normal boost. Both sides last for the duration stated on the card. The thief keeps its gained Attack for the stated duration even if the drained Hero leaves play.

impossible), recovering Relics from death, and forged counters that grow Relics over time.

Appendix J: Oathenhall Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: Kings, marshals, and sworn knights of the high feudal court. Oathenhall Heroes carry modest, Health-leaning bodies — the realm doesn't win fights itself, it organizes them. Its light Pulse and card-draw support keeps your hand full, but its true power is command: standing orders that let your other Heroes (of any Realm) act beyond their normal limits — striking twice, attacking together as one, counter-attacking, and rallying around a chosen Champion. Oathenhall rewards diverse, multi-Realm decks and makes every other Realm hit harder than it could alone.

Knighting / your Champion: Some cards “Knight” a Hero you control, making it your Champion. You may only have one Champion at a time — Knighting a new Hero removes the title from the previous one. A Hero keeps the title until it leaves play or is replaced. The title itself does nothing; cards that reference “your Champion” grant the benefits.

Joint Strike: Two Heroes you control in neighboring lanes attack a single enemy lane together as one combat: their Attacks are added together and compared against the defending Hero's Attack, exactly like an Onslaught. If the combined Attack is higher, the defender loses Health equal to the difference. Unlike an Onslaught, however, a failed Joint Strike does not deal the full difference to each attacker: if the defender's Attack is higher, the return damage (defender's Attack – combined attacker Attack) is split as evenly as possible between the two attacking Heroes (rounded to multiples of 10; you choose how to assign an uneven split). This damage-sharing is Oathenhall's signature — coordinating a strike so neither Hero absorbs the whole counter-blow, in contrast to a raw Onslaught where every attacker takes the full difference. A Joint Strike counts as both Heroes attacking that turn, and ties deal no damage to either side.

You trade board presence and card advantage for power that no fair-rate card could offer.

Sacrifice: Destroying a Hero or Auxiliary card you control as part of one of your own card's costs or effects. A sacrificed Hero's "when this Hero dies" effects still trigger. Some Zolthec cards gain blood counters whenever you sacrifice a Hero; each card's text says what its counters do.

Almsgard Heroes are low-Attack, high-Health bodies that want to be hit: the realm debuts true taunts — effects that force enemy Heroes to attack a chosen lane — and Last Rites, death triggers that shower your surviving team with healing, card draw, Pulse, and permanent stat boosts when a friar falls. Straightforward ally-healing and the realm's unique Health transfer (moving a friar's own Health to a teammate) round out the order.

Must-attack (taunt) rule: Taunts come in two strengths. "Must attack this lane if able" (lower rarities): any attack your opponent declares must target that lane if it legally can — attackers that cannot reach it (e.g., a non-neighboring lane with no lane-freedom effect) attack normally. "All enemy Hero attacks must target this lane, regardless of position" (higher rarities): every enemy attack is pulled into this lane no matter where the attacker sits or what Hero stands in its opposing lane. Both versions override effects that allow attacking any lane (such as Karakhorda's). If multiple must-attack effects are active, the attacking player chooses among those lanes.

Appendix M: Thornveil Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: Blade-dancers and shadow-archers of the deep wood. Thornveil Heroes are Attack-leaning skirmishers who survive through skill, not bulk. Their flagship is Duelist's Eye — elven precision that finds the gap in any armor — supported by Veiling (untouchable while a condition holds) and Precision Shots (attacking enemy support cards directly). Thornveil is the natural predator of Relic- and buff-heavy strategies, and struggles most against realms that fight with raw, unequipped bodies.

Duelist's Eye: When this Hero fights, the opposing Hero's equipped Relics and any Auxiliary cards in its lane grant it no Attack or Health for that combat — it fights on its base stats plus any permanent gains it has earned.

Veiled: While a Hero is Veiled, it cannot be attacked and cannot be chosen as a target by enemy card effects. Effects that don't target (lane-wide or board-wide effects) still apply to it.

Precision Shot: Instead of attacking the enemy Hero in a lane, a Hero with this ability may declare its attack against an enemy Relic or enemy Auxiliary card in that lane: the target is destroyed, no combat occurs, and the attacker takes no damage. This uses the Hero's attack for the turn.

Appendix N: Noctavein Realm — Full Card Set

Realm identity: The pale courts of the undying aristocracy. Noctavein Heroes carry a slight Attack lean sustained by self-healing, and their signature is Drain: converting enemy Health into their own Attack. Their second signature — and what separates them from Ankhara — is wounded prey: Noctavein is the first realm that cares about enemy Health state, gaining predator bonuses and outright executions against enemy Heroes that are already damaged. Ankhara weakens pristine armies; Noctavein finishes bleeding ones.

Drain X: The target enemy Hero loses X Health (this is a stat reduction — it follows the Stat Reduction vs. Damage rules in Section 8 and cannot be healed back), and the stated Hero gains +X Attack for the duration written on the card. Appendix O: Brightmantle Realm — Full Card Set Realm identity: Consecrated priests of the first light. Brightmantle Heroes are low-Attack, high-Health menders (a milder curve than Gildharbor) built around three pillars: Wards (stackable absorb shields that eat damage before Health), Cleansing (the game's first answer to stat reductions, silences, and other enemy-imposed afflictions), and modest Pulse farming keyed to the act of healing. Where Luminar buffs and Gildharbor walls, Brightmantle actively repairs.

Ward X: The Hero gains a ward of X — the next X damage that Hero would take is prevented, absorbed by the ward before Health is touched. Wards stack (add their values together). Wards prevent damage only; they do not stop stat reductions.

Cleanse: Remove all enemy-imposed stat reductions and negative effects (Attack/Health reductions, silences, attack restrictions, and similar afflictions) from a Hero you control, restoring its stats to what they would be without them. Cleansing is the stated exception to the rule that stat reductions cannot be undone. Cleansing does not restore Health lost to damage.
